Subject: RAP training in LV

Gary,

I am scheduled to travel to Las Vegas and participate in RAP project lead/task lead training next week (14-18 January). This training is required of all project and task leads. I was a project lead (for Energy & Mineral Extraction in the Safe and Sustainable Water Resources RAP), but I relinquished this role to Barb Butler (NRMRL/LRPCD). I still am a task lead (for Hydraulic Fracturing). My question is "do I need to participate in the training?" I know we are going to have multiple issues to begin addressing next week (for the HF project and the Pavillion project) and I am concerned about being on the road for another week and not being able to complete tasks related to those projects. Let me know what you think (where I should focus my time next week: RAP training or HF/Pav).
